

With appropriate waste documentation, the waste is unloaded (1), and separated by Gravity Compression System (GCS) to remove solids (2), then further separated to recover residual oil (3) from produced water. Depending on volumes, the oil value may be credited back to the customer and the reusable oil sold into the pipeline (4). Wastewater is disposed into a deep injection well (5), and solids are sent to a landfill or cavern (6).

