

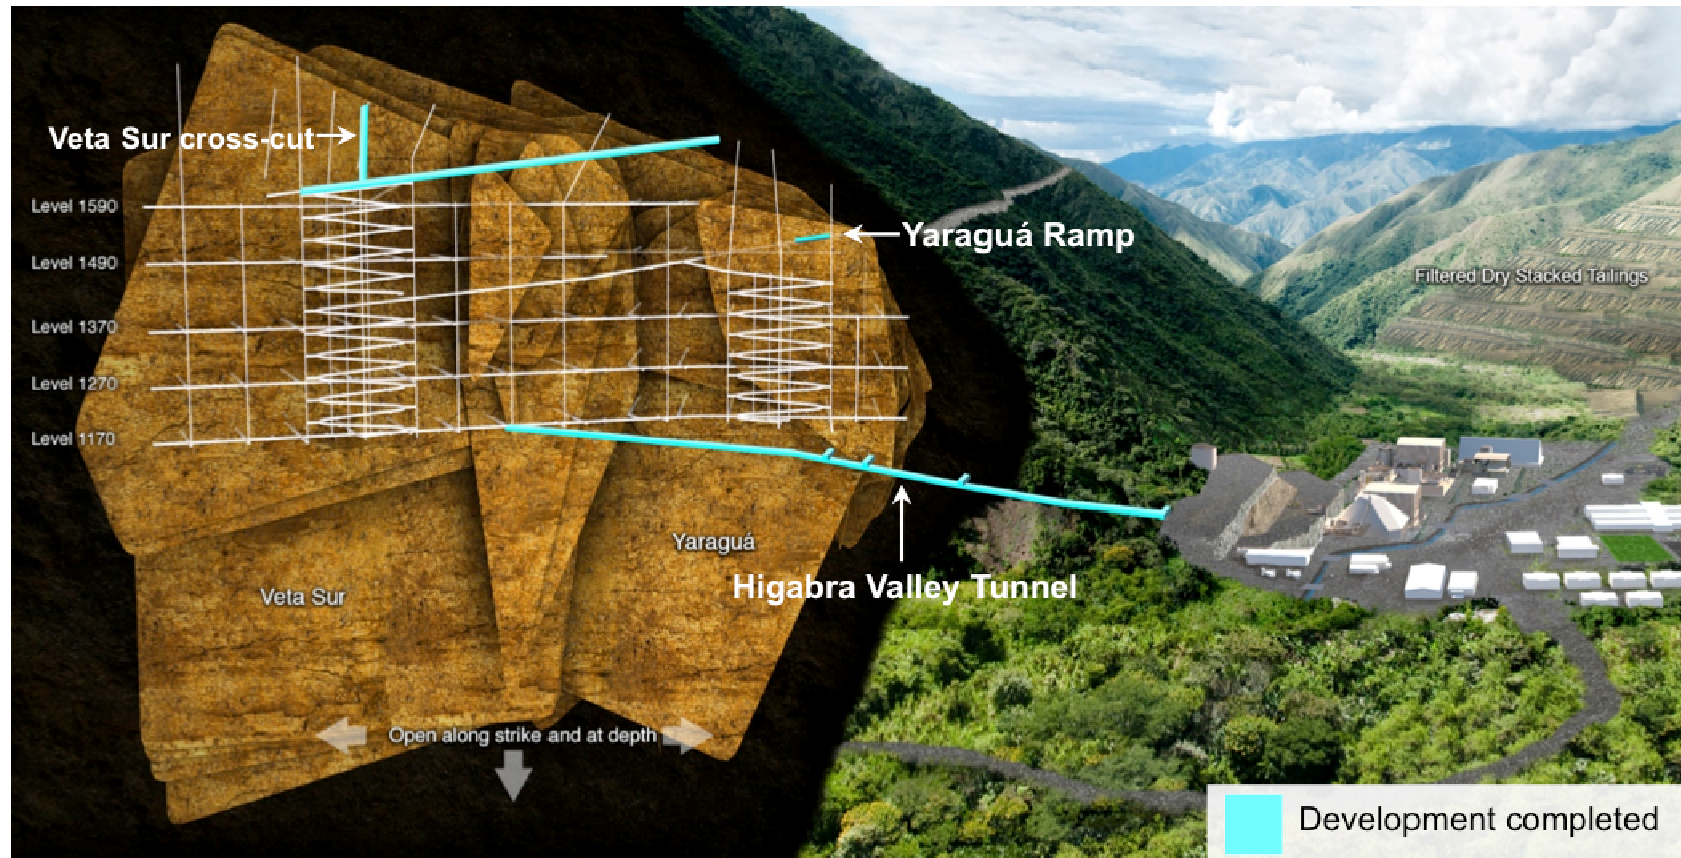

Figure 1: Buriticá Preliminary Development Plan*

* Proposed mine plan is dependent on, among other things, continued exploration success, environmental and board approvals, completing positive economic studies and the determination that the deposit is economically viable.