

Cindy Goble
Artist, Designer and Creative Director, GÖBLE

Biography

Cindy Goble was only seven when she first learned how to knit with her German/Lithuanian mother Elly, who worked with the medium as an art form and a way to show her love for family and friends. Despite a strong independent streak and her frustration with knitting, Cindy kept returning to the needles and loom as a means of expression. By age 15, she had already secured demand from friends, family and beyond, for her Bohemian aesthetic designs.

Cindy's exceptional skill and confidence in her work and business evolved from her multi-faceted professional experience - retail fashion, modeling and an online perfume business. She also represented London in the Miss Canada beauty pageant. A period in real estate solidified her business acumen.

It's been a circuitous path, but Cindy believes each life experience has contributed to the current launch and establishment of GÖBLE-- "Marriage, two children, family and my mother in particular, who taught me the value of using the best natural yarns and of experimenting with design and technique, have all inspired me to return to knitting with a passion. Thanks to her guidance and encouragement, as well as that of friends, I am fortunate to work with the finest natural organic materials and provide women with luxurious hand knit and woven accessories."

Cindy Goble shares her vision and design for GÖBLE with daughter Grace, who is currently a knitter at GÖBLE and once she completes her studies in business at Nipissing University, North Bay, she will play an important role in the company.
