

Figure 6 with low resistivity and high chargeability in the Northwest portion of the survey area, an interesting feature that leads to interpret the occurrence of a mineral target detected with three different physical properties.