

Figure 2. Wireframes of mineralization in the East Beaver Lake area comparing the current mineral resource (green shapes) with the new zone of mineralization (pink shapes) at the same grade cut-off. Note that, in relation to the contours showing the base of the intrusion, the topographic surface is approximately 450m above sea level.