

Figure 2. Principal relationships between the oxide, transition and primary sulphide zones in the Central lode of the Karchiga deposit. Dashed blue line shows schematic position of the dividing line between heap leachable and floatable sulphides from the transition zone. The area above the 50% acid soluble Cu line is potentially amenable to heap leaching.

