Unleashed at a loft party during the Pop Montreal Festival of 2004, UROCKAOKE is part rock show, part karaoke, and all fun! Combining their training in jazz, rock, reggae, bluegrass and just about every other genre you can think of, this four piece slides effortlessly between styles, creating a one of a kind soundtrack like no machine can. Having played together around the world for over ten years, there is nothing these guys haven't seen (on and off stage) and they are at their best and in their element two hours deep into a heavy set of sweaty jams. From the first nervous singer to the last mic hoggin' crooner, your guests will be transformed as they gain confidence and trust in this best of all backup bands.
