

Figure 1. Schematic long section of the Pester gossan target mineralization. Note that the upper plate is bounded by what appears to be a thrust fault, and that the potential for further mineralization lies down-plunge to the east-northeast.