

Reported trench and drill assays are represented as red lines and histograms. The drill holes and trenches we are awaiting assays for are represented by the black trace lines.

Filled blocks illustrate block-modeled mineralization, while the wireframe model illustrates the overall shape of the anticipated deposit (based on modal drill intercepts).

